BUCHEON UNIVERSITY

Dreaming of a new world

Bucheon University Founder

Mongdang

Han Hang-Gil (1897-1979)

Independence activist, entrepreneur, and educator Han Hang-gil (pen name "Mongdang," 夢堂) dedicated his entire life to serving his country and community. Based on the Jeongshim (正心) Movement, which emphasized upright mind, righteous thoughts, and proper words and actions, he founded Sosa Institute of Technology, the predecessor of Bucheon University.

During the March 1st Independence Movement, Han led a street demonstration, for which he was arrested and imprisoned in Seodaemun Prison, yet he never wavered in his determination for independence. It was during this time that he earned the pen name Mongdang (夢堂), meaning "a hall of dreams," symbolizing the nurturing of aspirations for a new world.

Inspired by this spirit of Mongdang—who pursued dreams even in the face of harsh reality—the Global Language Center of Bucheon University strives to open the way for students to move forward toward a new world.

We will advance as a center of language education and open a new era for global people

Executive Director

Jungeun Ku

Welcome to the Global Language Center of Bucheon University.

Today, Korea is attracting worldwide attention with K-Culture and various forms of Hallyu content. The Korean language has become more than just a means of communication—it now serves as a global medium that connects people across cultures. In this context, the Global Language Center at Bucheon University is committed to becoming a premier institution where students from all around the world can gain a deep understanding of the Korean language and culture while developing their global competence.

Our institute is proud to offer outstanding faculty members with both expertise and passion, a well-structured curriculum, and a wide range of cultural immersion programs. Through these, we support our students not only in improving their language proficiency but also in cultivating cultural literacy, helping them grow into true global talents. Furthermore, we provide strong academic and administrative support to ensure each student's academic success and smooth adjustment to life in Korea, creating a warm and secure learning environment for all international students.

Bucheon University seeks to serve as a bridge that connects Korea with the world through Korean language education. We hope that the learning experience here will broaden your future and serve as a valuable foundation for realizing your dreams on the global stage.

The Global Language Center of Bucheon University warmly welcomes students from all over the world who are passionate about the Korean language and culture. Your challenges and growth are our greatest rewards, and Bucheon University will always stand by your side on this journey.

Thank you.
